PTSA GENERAL SESSION MEETING WITH GUEST SPEAKER, ERIN JONES

Parents and students are invited to the second General Session of the year to hear important PTSA updates and to stay for the guest speaker, Erin Jones: "Black Lives Matter at School: The Power of History and Words". The meeting is on Wednesday January 22 from 6:30-8:30pm, in the Cafetorium. Dinner and childcare will be provided.

We invite everyone to join us to better building community that allows all students to thrive. The PTSA has invited Ms. Jones in light of the increased awareness of work and education that is needed following the recent student led protest about harmful racial slurs being used in our community.

Ms. Jones will be discussing why it is important to address these issues, defining diversity vs racial justice (equity), race, ethnicity, culture, and discussing the history of the n-word and other similar words and why they're so dangerous. Also, there will be interactive activities to get our community talking. Lastly, she will provide a helpful list of videos, podcasts and tools for parents to use and continue their own learning and their children's learning.

We hope to see you there!
